

Tobacco Use 2012/13:

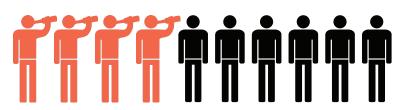

New Zealand Health Survey – A snapshot

one in six people smoke

one in four smokers have reported a diagnosed mental health condition(s)

four out of ten smokers had a drinking pattern that was considered potentially hazardous

the mean age of smoking initiation secondhand smoke exposure (SHS) in the car secondhand smoke exposure (SHS) in the home

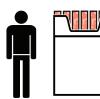

14.1 years

Māori had the earliest mean age of initiation younger adults were more likely to smoke RYOs older adults were more likely to smoke manufactured cigarettes

2.7 years

Pacific smokers had the shortest time lag between initiation and uptake

39%

Māori continue to have the highest rates of smoking

17.7 years

the mean age of smoking uptake